

INNCO SYSTEMS GMBH

innco systems GmbH is a medium-sized company located in Schwarzenfeld (Germany).

We are one of the world's leading manufacturers of electromagnetic positioning systems for EMV / EMC measurement applications and in the area of HF measuring technology. Special orders according to customer requirements are just as much a part of our product spectrum as standard systems proven over many years.

Our active, direct work on site with customers means we are a competent contact point at any time as an independent supplier for positioning tasks. Short decision paths, customer-orientated suggestions for solutions, and the greatest possible flexibility guarantee high-quality products to give our customers that added value they need to be competitive – globally.

Origin

innco systems GmbH was founded in 2008 from a merger of HD-GmbH and Inn-Co GmbH and is therefore the direct successor of both. This ensures that former customers of those two companies also receive uninterrupted service and support for their systems as they need it – without limitation or legal concerns.
